PRODUCT FEATURES

High Stability

By using the method of threaded locking, the deformation caused by the wheel bolt mounting pressure is avoided. And the product for mounting the wheel bolt is notched through the flange surface to reduce the effect of deformation. The best flatness is achieved so that the product fits more closely to the brake disc.

Low Torque

A double axial seal is commonly used to lower the friction torque without lowering the sealing effect.

Compact Structure

Traditional second-generation products and shaft heads are integrated for a more compact structure and improved reliability.

Lightweight

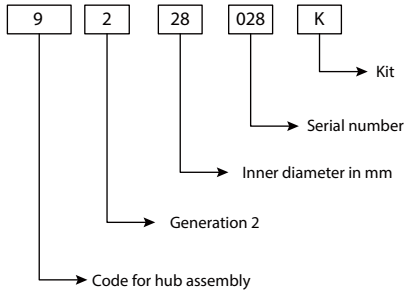

Tab style and cut edge flanges are commonly used or by using the way of weight reduction holes, so that the weight of product can be reduced.

High Hardness

The inner flange bore has been reinforced and the shaft has mostly been quenched to increase the product's overall strength.
